OUR MILITIA SYSTEM .- The call for three hundred thousand troops under the amended militia law of the lest Congress has directed at tantion to the plan digested by Mr. Joel R. Polisett during his administration of the War Department, under President Van Buren, for the organization of the mititia of the United States. According to that plan, says the National Intolli gencer, as reported to Congress on the 20th of March, 1840, and fou dla the Public Decument printed by order of both Houses of Congress dur ing the tirst se sion of the Tweaty sixth Congress (see vol. 7 of Senate D cumsals, p. 531), 1 was proposed to divida the United States aut eight military di tricts, and to organize the militia in each district so as to have a bedy the twelve the neard five huadred men in actual service, and another of equal number as a reserve Thie would give an armed militia faces of two hnadred thousand mon, so drilled and scalioned a to be ready to take their places in the ranks i defence of the country whenever called upon to oppose the enemy. The age of the recruit, ac cording to Mr. Poincett's plan, was to be from tweaty to thirty-seven. The whole term of ser vice was to be eight years-four years in the first class and four in the reserve. One fourth parttweaty-five thousand men-wors to leave the service every year, passing, at the conclusion of the first term, late the reserve, and to be ex empted from ordinary mi itia duty altogether at the end of the second. AN INON CLAD FLEET FOR THE PACIFIC COAST - Our Commerce to be Protected - the Nevy Department has commenced en important movement for the protection of our l'acide coust. We have a eplendid na vy-yard at Mare Island, although the first and only nan-of-war constructed there, the steam gunboat & aginew, proved a complete failure, yet it has been ascertained by the authorities that first-rate facilities for the construction of iron-clad vessel; any available at that poiat and ia San Francisco.

We have been taught to pray for deliver that when the mirth runs fast and farlour, Har aace against them, and those who have been ans pected of disloyalty have ever been shanned as if Return he does, but not in auger. He has inflicted with moral leprosy. Vattel in his Law of Nations says: "If every man is obliged to entertain a sincere love for his country, and to pro enre it all the happiness In his power, it la shameful and detestable crime to ir jure that very country. He who becomes guilty of it, violatehis most sacred engagements, and sicks into base ingratitude; he dishonors himself by the black est perfidy, since he abnies the confi dence of his follow citizens, and treats as eaemiea these who had a right to expect his a:elstance and services. We see trailors to thei in 'Our American Consin,' so very claverly country only among those men who are colely played by Mr. Sothern. It is not very clearly a vesible of a base interest, who heve an immediate value for none bat themselves, and whose heart is incapat to of every sentiment of affection foathere. Moore in his Lella Rookh writes these withering lines :

most conspicuous ingredients of the document are ignerance and insolence. The first count in this indictmeet against our military authorities is that the President has directed the levying of contribury to the rules and usages of civilized warfare. The denucciation is absurd. It flies right in the face of the universal practice of nations and of the uniform anthority of publicists. No rulo of public law is better established than that which sauctions the levying of military contributions on the inhabitants of the hostile territory, and hardly any one is more frequently carried into practice. We ourselves amongst other nations are distinctly committed to the rule. During our war with Mexico, President Polk ordered Gen. Scott to support his army by forced contributions levied upon the country, and the order was not executed only hecause Gan. Scott on the spot foresaw and represented to the President, that, under the peculiar circumstances of the situation, the execution of the order would defeat its purpose. But it is idle to cite illustrations. The rule of public law is notoriously as we have stated it. Private property on land is also exempt from confiscation,' says Wheaton, "with the exception of such as may became beoty in special cases, when taken from enemica in tho field or in heseiged towns, and of military contributions levied Instead of the custom of pillaging the open country and defenceless places," says Vattel, 'another mode has been substituted, which is at once more humane and more advantageous to the belligerent sovereign,-I mean that of egainst armed forces into a campaign of robbe contributions. Whoever carries on a just war and mnrdcrers against unarmed citizens and has a right to make the enemy's country conribnte to the support of his army, and toward defraying all the charges of the war." WHY HE WENT HOME .- The Count de Paris left the army on the James river to go home and marry the oldest daughter of the Duchess of Parina. This aunoncoment epoils a great deal of sage epsenlation as to the political motives which or erated with the young gentleman, and makes la dicrons the columns of personal abuse and detraction which the English secession journals choose to pour on his devoted head, for his supposed da ertion in time of danger of a post voluntarily assumed, and his prasumed ambitious aspiration in Eeropa. The young man's aspirations ran in another direction, not at all threstening to the peace of Europe, and it is not in the least to Iba discredit of his gallantry that he should prefer the arms of a beantiful Duchess to lying in the feverish swamp of the Chickshominy. FROM THE MISSISSIPPI -Tha Memphis Bulletin of the 3d inst. says the rebels at Vickshurg hav postassion of the Star of the West, ocean steamer, and a Bslize tng, and are piercing them for war vessals. The Star of the West is plerced for twenty-two gnns. From twenty to thirty vessels constitute the ex'emporized war floot which the Arkaneas is gathering around her. They are mostly transports, and, of coniss, are not very formidable. The Prince of Wales, Magenla, Natchez, Ben. McCullech, Vicksburg, Ferd, Kennett, Louisville, and Mary E. Keene are the names of some of the vessels.

MOVEMETS OF THE GUERILLAS. -Tha Evans ville Jonreal learns from passengars by the packets that the guerillas visited Uniontown and Casayville on Wednesday night and Thursday morn ing. They stole all the arms and ammunition they could find in both places and speaked off to the brush again. We hope to hear of the gallant Col. Shackleford being after them with his new cavalry regiment. With his batd of true and loyal Kentuckians he will be able to sweep those thieves from the soil of Kentucky, if no from the face of the earth.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF COL. WM. W. DUFFIELD, OF THE NINTH MICHIGAN REGIMENT, FELA-TIVE TO THE AFFAIR AT MURREESBORO', TENNESSEE, ON THE 13TH JULY ULT.

MURFREESBORO', TENN, July 23, 1862. Colonel-Although I had not yet formally as-umed command of the Twenty-third Brigade, yet as Brigadier General Thus. T. Crittanden and he other officers of hie command have been cap tured, and forwarded to Chattanooga, permit ma to submit the following report of such portion of the attack on this post, made on the 13th inst., s came under my own personal observation:
I arrived here, after an absence of two months,
i the afternoon of the 11th inat, coming down that some train with Brigadier General Thes. on the same train with Brigadier General Thes. T. Crittenden, the newly appointed commander of the post, and found that several material changes had been made in the location and encampment of the Twenty-third Brigade fiece my departure. Instead of the whole command camping together, as it had done, it was separated into two portions, several miles apart. The brigade had never been drilled as such nor a brigade gnard monnted. Each regiment furnished its quota of olicers and men, and walched certain roads, and, worse than all, the commonding cflicers of the respective regiments were on ill terms with each other, and this fealing, on one occasion, had broken out icto an open personal questre. an open personal quarrel. The result was a great lack of discipline and a bilter feeling of justlonsy between the different regiments, manifesting itself in the personal encounters of the men when they mat upon the efreet. There was no order, no harmony. The parts of the machine did not fit well togather, and the commanding officer seems either not to have possessed the will or the ability to adjust them.

Gen. Crittenden and myself immediately after our arrival visited the several camps discussed. our arrival visited the several camps, discussed the impropriety of a divided command and deci-ded upon a concentration, but as neither of ns had assumed command, we deferred it until the mor-But on the morrow the blow fell, and the anger wa anticipated became a reality. Gen. preferred camping with my own men and there-ore pitched my tent with the five (5) companies of the 9th Michigan Volunteers.

The force then at Mnrfreesboro was as follows:

gan volunteers, Lient. Col. Parajurst commanding, 290 strong, together with the 1st squadron of the 4th Kentacky cavalry, Captain Chilson, 81 etrong, were camped three tourths of a mile east of the town, on the Liberty turnpike. One company (8) of the 9th Michigan volunteers, Capt Roueds, 42 strong, occupied the court house, the other four companies of the 9th Michigan having been ordered to Tellahoma a month since, while companies of the 31 Minnesota volunteer Col. Lester (one company being on detached duty as train guard), 459 etrong, and Hewett'a 1s Kentneky battery, two sections, 72 strong, occupied the east back of Stone's river at a distance of more than three miles from the encampment of the 9th Michigan volunteer. orders were received from Nashville on the evthe 12th inst., directing the 1st equation the Kentucky cavalry to proceed immeto Lebanon. The total offective strength if the command at Mnrfreesboro on the morni f the 13 h irst. did not, therefore, exceed 814

mee, including pickete.

The attack was made at daybreak on the morning of the 13th instant by the 2d cavalry bright, C. S. A., Brig. Gen. N. B. Forrest, over 3,000 strong, consisting of one Texas regiment, Leut. Col. Walker, the 1st and 2d Georgia regiments, Col. Walker, the 1st and 2d Georgia regiments, Col. Jounders, and one Texassee regiment. Col. Jounders, and one Texassee regiment. Col. Jounders, and one Texassee regiment. including pickets. navion. The roise of so many hoofs at full spenion the Macadamized roads was so great in the alarm was given before the head of the column reached our pickste about a mile ditant, so that our men were formed and ready treceive them, although they came on at fuspeed. The Texans and a battalion of the Gare So fierce and impetuous was this attack that ou they fell bick steadly and in order, with faces to the fise. But upon reaching the their faces to the fise. But upon reaching the coeffect our camp their line was brough; to a half, and after twanty minutes of nearly hand to hand fighting, the enemy broke and fisd in the wildest confusion, followed in close pursuit by one company as skirmi-hers. A squadron of cavalry at this lime launched at their heels would have niterly routed and annihilated them. Indeed, so great was their panic that their officers were une nilas, and Col. Lawlon, commanding a Georgia regiment, was subsequently arrested by General Forrest for misconduct under the lire of the enemy. Turng this attack both officers and men, with one single exception, behaved very handsomely. There was no excitement, no hnrry, no confusion; everything was done calmly, quietly, and is obedience to ordere; but it is with the deepest shame and mortification I am compelled to report that one officer of Michigan has been guilty tret alarm left bis quarlers, abandened his component, and fled from his command under the anemy's fire; and I therefore inclose you here with charges preferred against him for violation of the 52d article of war. Capt. Charles V. Derard, Company C, 9th Michigan volucteers, deserves e-pecial mention for his cool and gallant conduct throughout the entire action, and the fearlies mode in which he led his company as *kirmishora.In pursuit of the enemy when repulsed; also, First Lieutenant Hiram Barrows, of Company A. of the astrag regiment, for the kirmishors. In pursuit of the enemy when re-pulsed; also, First Lieutenant Hiram Barrows, of Company A, of the same regiment, for the tenselty with which ha held his ground, although oluntaers has bean very severe for the number ngaged, amounting to one officer and twelve men cilled, three officers and seventy-five men woundd, two of whom have since did. Not having been present at the subsequent sur render of the datachment of 9.h Michigan Volunteors, ender Lient. Col. Parkhurs', I can only state the facts as reported to me, which show that this force, isolated and reduced by killed and wounded to less than 75 men, after having held their ground from 4 o'clock A. M. till I o'clock P. M, were compelled to surrender or be cut to bisces by the entire force of the asemy. I am eliably informed that Co. B, 9th Michigan Volunteers, under command of First Lient. Wright, held the court-house against an incassant attick

Of the surrender of the 31 Mionesota Volunteers and largetty Artillary under irchmstances of the case as reported beer pain-

I inclose a list of the killed and wounded of the 31 Minnesota Volunteers, firmished me by the Assistant Surgoon of that regimeet, amounting to 2 killed and 8 wounded, one of whom was killed and 2 wounded in line, and the remainder n eamp. , In the early part-of-this atlack I received two wounds—one passing through the right testicle, the other through the left thigh. Tuese, though very painful and blaeding profastly, did not pre-vent ma from remaining with my own regiment intil the attack was repulsed, when, lainting from pain and loss of blood, I was carried from he tiald, and was, therefore, not a witness of what subsequently occurred. At non of tha same day I was made prisoner by Brig. Gan. Forrest, but in my then helpless condition was released upon my parole not to bear arms against the Confederate States notil ragularly exchanged. I remsin, Colonel, your obedient servant, WM. W.
